Most sales people spend 100% of their time focused on ...

By Patrick Crocetta

Most sales people spend 100% of their time focused on "what the customer wants" (in a new home...but it could be in any new product). This is because typical sales people are fixated on the product and believe that's what influences the purchase decision. They unfortunately never consider the real motivating factor in a purchase -- WHY the prospect desires to make a change in the first place and respecting the fact that people don't buy the product...they buy the solution the product delivers! Jeff Shore takes the reader deep into this understanding -- how and why people purchase products and what it takes to create the desire and urgency for the prospect to decide to make a change (to buy!). This book is so powerful because if the sales formula Jeff discusses is applied, the sales path that leads to the close will open up every time. Every Sales Professional seeking to improve his/her craft in a quest to be the top 1% MUST read this book! As Director of Sales for a medium sized builder, The 4:2 Formula is now required training and at the core of our sales program. Thank you Jeff!!!
